XVI. Change Orders. Any modification or departure from the aforementioned Services or other contractual requirements that necessitates a revision of this Agreement shall be documented in a change order ("Change Order") and executed and attached to this Agreement.

XVII. Entire Agreement. This Agreement represents the entire agreement between the Contractor and Subcontractor. This Agreement supersedes any prior written or oral representations. Subcontractor and its subcontractors, suppliers and/or materialmen are bound to the Contractor by the prime contract and any contract documents incorporated therein to the same extent as Contractor is bound to the Client insofar as they related in any way, directly or indirectly, to the Services provided and covered in this Agreement.

XVIII. Time. This Agreement's timeline is crucial. The Subcontractor shall comply with the Contractor's progress schedules, including any alterations made by the Contractor in the scheduling of Services, and shall provide the Contractor with scheduling information in a format acceptable to the Contractor. The intention of the foregoing is to provide the maximum defense and indemnity obligations permitted by the Subcontractor by law, to the extent that State law restricts the defense or indemnity obligations of the Subcontractor to Contractor or Client. Any insurance requirements or other provisions of this Agreement shall not limit the indemnity described in this Section.

XXIII. Warranty. Subcontractor guarantees to Client and Contractor that, unless otherwise specified, all materials and equipment furnished will be brand-new and that all services rendered under this Agreement will be completed, at the very least, in accordance with industry standards. Subcontractor will not, directly or indirectly, use or refer to Contractor or their Identity in connection with any other third (3rd) parties.

B.) Non-Disclosure. The parties hereby agree that the Receiving Party shall not use, commercialize, or disclose Confidential Information to any person or entity during the term of this agreement or at any time thereafter, save as expressly provided herein or in a separate writing signed by the Disclosing Party. C.) Right to Disclose. The Subcontractor guarantees that it has the full and unrestricted right to disclose any information, know-how, or data to the Contractor and that the Contractor shall have the full and unrestricted right to use and publish any such information, know-how, or data as it sees fit without incurring legal liability to third parties. XXVII. Injunctive Relief. Subcontractor understands that it would be challenging to fully make up for any damages brought on by any breach of this Agreement for the Client and/or Contractor. In order to enforce these provisions, the Client and/or Contractor shall be entitled to both temporary and permanent injunctive relief in the event of any breach of this Agreement.

XXVIII. Severability. If any term, covenant, condition, or provision of this Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, void, or unenforceable, the remainder of the provisions shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired, or invalidated.

XXIX. Independent Contractor. No term, covenant, condition, or provision of this Agreement shall be construed as creating an employer-employee, master-servant, or principal-agent relationship between the Contractor or Client and the Subcontractor and/or any of the Subcontractor's employees. The relationship between the Contractor and the Subcontractor shall be deemed to be that of an independent contractor, as attested to by all parties to this Agreement.

XXX. Force Majeure. When a party fails to carry out its obligations under this Agreement as a result of events beyond its reasonable control, such as acts of State or governmental authorities, terrorist acts, natural disasters like fires, storms, and floods as well as earthquakes, accidents, and protracted energy shortages, neither party shall be held responsible. Any date specified herein shall, in the event of such a delay, be extended by the necessary amount of time by the Contractor and the Subcontractor.
